WHAT IF I WOULD RATHER TALK TO ONE OF THE FOLKS BELOW?
EXAMPLES FOR STUDENTS
• Coaches
• Residential Life Staff (including GRAs)
• Academic Advisors
• Faculty
• Teaching Assistants
EXAMPLES FOR EMPLOYEES
• Student Support Services (S’)
• Office of Graduate Education
• Deputy Title IX Coordinators
• Managers & Supervisors (even if it’s not your Manager/Supervisor)
• Human Resource professionals (both central and DLC-specific)

If you speak with the staff mentioned above (otherwise known as Responsible Employees), they have a responsibility to inform IDHR of the incident. IDHR Staff will then reach out to you via email to ask if you would like to meet and learn more about resources and reporting options available to you. You do not have to agree to meet with IDHR staff.

HOW CAN IDHR HELP ME?
The Institute Discrimination & Harassment Response Office (IDHR) can help faculty, staff, students, and postdocs who are experiencing any form of discrimination or discriminatory harassment on the basis of:
• race
• color
• sex
• sexual orientation
• gender identity
• pregnancy
• religion
• disability
• age
• genetic information
• veteran status
• national or ethnic origin

Please note that discrimination or discriminatory harassment on the basis of sex includes sexual assault, sexual harassment, intimate partner violence, and stalking. Many of the resources listed on the left can also support you if you’ve experienced discrimination other than sexual misconduct.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What are confidential resources and why might I use them before or instead of using IDHR?
Confidential resources (listed on the left) do not have an obligation to inform IDHR of any information shared. You may choose to start with a confidential resource to process your experience and better identify how MIT can support you moving forward. All of the confidential resources on campus are knowledgeable about the reporting options at MIT and what IDHR can do for you.

IDHR can address concerns at MIT in a variety of ways, including offering education and training to your group, providing information about the different resolution pathways at MIT, and assisting with supportive measures such as workplace and academic modifications or no-contact orders.
